

The War

Soldiers huddle in terror aboard the vessel, waiting to pounce onto the dark, deadly battlefield,

The troops are petrified, worried, scared. Comrades fall like a deck of cards,

BANG! Gunshots shatter the silence.

BOOM! As the guns erupt, panic-stricken heroes fall to the ground in unbearable pain,

Men down! Medics needed! Bullets scream through the atmospheric air.

As the courageous soldiers charge at the Germans, some are paralysed with fear

Other brave troops stumble on across bloody wasteland,

Excruciating pain descends upon them as they draw their last breath

Dead men cover the land while others crawl to their death, all hope abandoning them.

On Normandy Beach, the soldiers fought honorably whilst sacrificing their lives for us.
